Deposit / Cancellation:

- Our operating season is very short and we only offer five cabins, which typically reserve early. It is common for us to turn potential guests away throughout the year because we're already fully booked at that time. To protect our limited window of opportunity to earn a living, we must adhere to a fairly rigid cancellation policy.
- If you are making reservations during the same calendar year of your trip, we request a 50% deposit to complete your reservation, and the remainder is due sixty days before your arrival.
- 50% deposit ($1975) is due at the time of Registration.
- If you delay or cancel your trip for any reason, your deposit will not be fully or partially refunded (other than for reasons, discussed below).
- Registration deadline is September 1st. If the workshop does not book with four to six participants by the registration deadline the workshop will be cancelled and you will receive a 100% refund.
- Please know weather can delay or hinder your stay anywhere in Alaska.
- If you decide to cancel your trip to Raspberry Island due to Alaskan weather delays while traveling to Raspberry Island, we will do our best to work with you to reschedule your trip later in the year, or the following year. We cannot roll your deposit into any year beyond the next year and will retain your deposits if our schedules don't coordinate.
- If you choose to depart early because of bad weather forecasted for the coming days, you will not be refunded for the days missed.
- Finally if your departure from the lodge is delayed due to weather, we will not charge extra for the time spent here at the lodge.

PLEASE NOTE:

While we can not guarantee the abundance or harvest of wild game or waterfowl, we pride ourselves on offering an outstanding educational opportunity with amazing meals and accommodations.
Get ready to have a BLAST!
